The Ohio Speaker of the House of Representatives John Husted opened the session and introduced Representative Keith Faber who welcomed Clutter to the House and to the Speaker's podium for the prayer.

Pastor Clutter introduced his prayer with remarks directed to each member of the House of Representatives to inspire and encourage them to humble themselves before God and to allow the decisions to be not their own but God's. Clutter heaped praises upon his parents for giving him the work ethic to rise through the business world but also the spiritual foundation to balance both his secular career and his faith. Clutter finished with this short and simple prayer that he challenged the Representatives to keep in their minds, in their hearts and on their lips – "Give these men and women Your wisdom so that You are honored by all they say and do. Amen. To God be the Glory and God Bless America!" After the prayer, Clutter led the House in the Pledge of Allegiance. The Speaker then recognized Clutter's family and members of his congregation who were sitting in the gallery.
